Most hardware manufacturers assign specific names (often trademarked) to their hardware finishes. Many of these finishes are unique to the manufacturer. Standards have been developed by several hardware manufacturing associations to ensure uniformity in finishes. The most common designations are "U.S." and "B.H.M.A." (Builders Hardware Manufacturers Association). When ordering hardware (especially in cases of matching), take care to locate both the finish names and finish designations (when appropriate). Consult actual samples for accuracy.
